

Vaughn College

of aeronautics and technology

Dr. Maxine Lubner is a Professor and Chair of the Management and formerly, Aviation, Departments at Vaughn College of Aeronautics and Technology, in Queens, New York. Previously, Dr. Lubner was appointed as Executive Director of the CUNY Aviation Institute at York College and as a faculty member at New York University's Graduate School of Social Work. Her FAA sponsored research has included studies of pilots and has led to the development of training programs for general aviation. As a representative of a consortium of universities and companies she promoted aviation education and information exchange between US and Tanzania. She is an author of multiple papers, presentations and abstracts. As a media spokesperson, she has addressed various aviation safety issues on local, national and international television, radio and printed forums. She holds an FAA Private Pilot Certificate. She obtained a B.A. (undergraduate) and a graduate B.A. Honor's degree in Counseling Psychology from the University of Cape Town, South Africa, and earned her M.Phil. and Ph.D. degrees in Sociomedical Sciences from Columbia University, New York.

Dr. Lubner was born in Bulawayo, Zimbabwe, and lived in South Africa, the United Kingdom and currently lives with her family in New York, USA.

Dr. Maxine Lubner is a Professor and Chair of the Management and formerly, Aviation, Departments at Vaughn College of Aeronautics and Technology, New York City. Previously, Dr. Lubner was appointed as Executive Director of the City University of New York (CUNY) Aviation Institute at York College and as a faculty member at New York University's Graduate School of Social Work. She has conducted research in the areas of aviation safety, human factors and aviation education. She holds an FAA Private Pilot Certificate. She obtained an undergraduate B.A. and a graduate B.A. (Hons) in Counseling Psychology, from the University of Cape Town, South Africa, and earned her M. Phil. and Ph.D. degrees in Sociomedical Sciences from Columbia University, New York.